I SUNDAY OF LENT

Climate change is a nagging issue of our time that resists dismissal. Of course it has little impact on most of our daily lives. It is an objective idea, outside us, and we don't usually give it much thought. It remains, however, as something requiring a personal assessment from us. We cannot remain neutral.

On the other hand, temptation to sin by disobeying God and His plan for us is one issue we cannot ignore. It is internal; quite personal and very important. How we handle it is linked to our ultimate destination.

Why is this so? The bible is clear with the answer. Our human race is damaged. Damaged by the deliberate decision of our first parents to disobey a rather simple command of the God who made them. Having already provided them with clear intellects and delightful surroundings, God only gave them one little rule: do not eat the fruit of one certain tree among all the others in the garden.

Satan, self-chosen enemy of God, decides to fight God by luring Adam and Eve to disobey God by weaving a web of lies about the fruit of that tree. Sadly, he succeeds. Instantly our race became one of sinners. But God, in His loving goodness, offers hope to the pair. He will send them a Person who will repair the damage.

You and I are the sons and daughters of Adam and Eve, redeemed for ultimate union with God, adopted children of God via our baptism. Yet we must pass a test of our own. Call it our "temptations." Sometimes they are small, no bigger than a candy bar lifted sneakily from the shelf at a Wawa convenience store. At other times they are very large, like casually ignoring a divine command and a Catholic Church precept to participate in Mass on the Lord's Day.

However clever we can be at rationalizing what we know deep down are wrong choices, in the end our consciences will not leave us alone. We are, after all, made for God, and as St. Augustine famously wrote: "Our hearts are restless until they rest in thee, O Lord."

Fortunately, we have our hero, Jesus Christ. Like us in all things but sin, He faced the same three most powerful temptations of power, wealth and fame that we do. Satan still wants us to be on his side. Jesus, on the other hand only asks that we try our live like He did. He knows our struggles. If we do our best, He promised to give us His best. That will include an eternity where the climate is perfect.

God love you and let Lent improve you.

Hope: New Autobiography of Pope Francis

As well known, Pope Francis has been hospitalized at the Gemelli hospital in Rome for health complications due to a bilateral pneumonia. Millions of people from around the world are praying for the physical and spiritual health of the Holy Father. While prayer is the best tool to sustain the pope in this delicate moment, let us not discard another way to feel close and at the same time to benefit of his great wisdom and love. I am referring to his recent autobiography book under the title Hope that reveals many interesting facts and deep thoughts about his life and his teachings. The book was issued in Mid-January 2025 by the Editor Mondadori in Italy and was also made available to English-speaking readers in the United States through the publisher Random House. Originally, it was intended to be published after the pope's death, but the coincidence with the 2025 Jubilee convinced him to make it available now. The title of the book Hope is also an inspiring source for how to live within the spirit of the Jubilee dedicated precisely to hope, the hope that does not deceive because based on the promise of God. The book marks the first time a pope has provided a first-person narration of the episodes that have marked his entire life, in this case from his childhood in Argentina in a family of Italian immigrants to becoming the successor of St. Peter. In addition to his memoirs, in the book the pope takes up issues such as war and peace, immigration, the environmental crisis, social policy, women, and the future of the Catholic Church. Moreover, the autobiography Hope includes numerous revelations, anecdotes, and considerations inspired by both Catholic and non-Christian inputs, reflecting Pope Francis' openness towards anything which is good, no matter where it comes from, convinced that every good is originated by the Holy Spirit. Among them there is a quotation of St. Mather Teresa of Calcutta saying: "The most beautiful day: Today; the greatest obstacle: Fear; the easiest thing: To get wrong; the greatest mistake: To renounce". Another quotation is taken from an old Chinese saying: There are just two perfect men in this world, the first is dead and the second has yet to be born, to indicate to be patient with our quest for perfection. The book is easy and pleasant to read, full of details and names and many useful reflections on historical and present conditions seen with the eyes of a holy man. It is worth taking the time to read it, circumstances permitting.

. Random House describes it as a thrilling and very human memoir, moving and sometimes funny, which represents the "story of a life." Moreover, the publisher calls it "a touching moral and spiritual testament that will fascinate readers throughout the world and will be Pope Francis's legacy of hope for future generations.

All of this under the rubric of hope, a theme that is also being highlighted during the 2025 Jubilee. Hope is in some ways a reflection of the wild ride Pope Francis has taken us on since his election in 2013: often unpredictable and surprising, also accessible, engaging, and never boring. He's a high extrovert, and he tends to blurt out whatever's on his mind (I feel a kinship with him in this regard). I think Hope would be a good introductory (or re-introductory) text for learning about Pope Francis. It's an adventure to read because it goes in so many directions. The most precious gift is our life Rich and detailed autobiography starting from the ROOTS : grandparents' emigration through his pontificate Full of detail and names and many considerations to the present problems A Many quotations from wise secular people Picasso (313); Tolstoj □323). Charles Peguy: la speranza vede e ama cio' che sara' (334). Santa Teresa: " il Giorno piu' bello:oggi. L'ostacolo piu' grande: la paura. La cosa piu' facile: sbagliarsi. L'errore piu' grande:Rinunciare" (p. 326)

Appreciation for humanity : Homo sapiens is also Homo ludens, uomo che ride come Isacco "Un Cristiano triste e' alla fine un triste Cristiano"(p.343) Peace: We are not neutral; we are for Peace ...the only possible authority is the one which represents a service, because authority which is not a service is dictatorship (p. 322-3) Christian hope is infinitely superior to human hope : it is the certainty that we are born not to ever die ; we are born for the summits, to enjoy happiness. Christian hope is invincible because it is not a wish...it is based on God and God doesn't defrauds because He cannot deny Himself. (p.231-2)
